to pluck up that which is planted;
A time to kill, and a time to heal;
A time to break down, and a time to build up;
A time to weep, and a time to laugh;
A time to mourn, and a time to dance; ...
A time to get, and a time to lose;
A time to keep, and a time to cast

A time to rend, and a time to sew;
A time to keep silence, and a time

In Memoriam

The memory of John Malone is a clear and precious one to all of us who knew him. He was a capable teacher, a devoted family man, an active citizen. His enthusiasm for life and living struck a responsive chord in everyone he met. His openness and willingness to become involved whenever he could help made it possible for students to confide in him, for faculty members to feel they had a loyal friend, and for parents to feel confidence in his values.

It is most appropriate that we see him pictured at an open door. He opened so many doors for others in his short lifetime: doors to friendship, doors to learning, doors to responsible citizenship, doors to an increased awareness of the joy of life itself. Through these opened doors we are privileged to see wider horizons; and as long as we hold the memory of John Malone dear, the doors will never close but will continue to inspire us to be all that we are capable of being.

March 18, 1971, proved to be a day of success. Along with the hard work, tired feet, and long hours, many people had an enjoyable day at the Senior Carnival.

The product of the day was much better than the money we received. Each person who helped with the carnival made a few pennies for a little boy. The class should be proud of this accomplishment. It may have been the best thing we could have done in our entire years of school.

Unpaper Innovates New Ideas

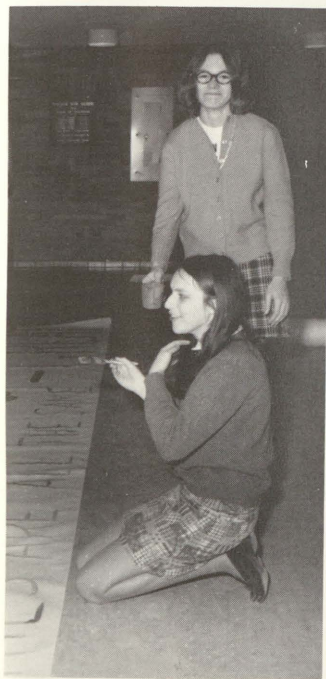

Hemlock High has a new slant on journalism, namely the UNPAPER. The primary goal was to present, (with as little censorship as possible) the thoughts and opinions of the student body of H.H.S. Even the name is a reflection of the fact that this year the school paper was really DIFFERENT. Each issue contains editorials, poetry, opinion polls, sports, news and "fadaises." The courageous people that head this adventure into new journalistic concepts are, Sherri Leach, editor-in-chief, and Mr. Hughey, our advisor.

"Who me?"

"Help!"

"Arf!"

Pep Club has done a great job of promoting school spirit during athletic activities this year. Some of the club's projects included making spirit signs, selling booster badges, selling candy at Christmas and cheering our Huskies on. The group has also initiated the idea of uniforms this year to create a look of more unity among the members.

The Girls' Athletic Association spent a very busy year with numerous money-making projects including candy sales, dance, and bake sales. The proceeds from these activities were used to purchase physical education equipment for the school.

The girls also participated in volleyball matches with several other schools.

A conspiracy?

The overall objective of The Future Home-makers of America is to help individuals im-prove personal, family, and community living through organized programs as a part of the home economics program. Its motto "Toward New Horizons," sums up this objective. The girls have done extremely well in upholding this motto with field trips and participation in state and regional FHA activities adding to their experience.

The 1970-1971 officers are Mary Kay Sherman, songleader, and Debbie Kolb, pianist.

A Man Of Many Angles

We, the class of 1971, would like to express our appreciation to Mr. Otter for his concern for our welfare.

He was not just an advisor but our teacher, friend, an assistant football coach, basketball coach, and an all-'round "great guy." He was there with words of advice, encouragement, and constructive criticism whenever we needed his guidance. For the past two years he has given us a helping hand in planning and building our homecoming floats, in organizing the Spring Prom and homecoming dances, and other student activities.

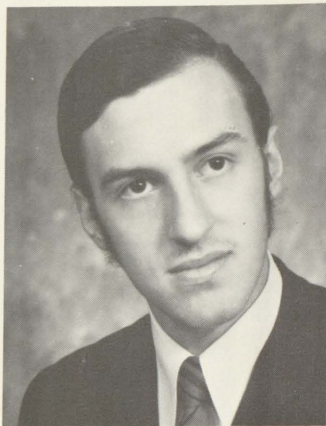

Thanks, Mr. Otter, for having such a long fuse!

The class of 1971, especially those who worked for the production of "Arsenic and Old Lace," would like to express their sincere appreciation and thanks to an amazing woman who gives unselfishly of her time. Her many hours of hard work were accepted without due recognition. We again would like to thank a person much looked up to by all - Mrs. Malone.

Editor's Message

Time is:

Too Slow for those who Wait,
Too Swift for those who Fear,
Too Long for those who Grieve,
But for those who Love,
Time is not.

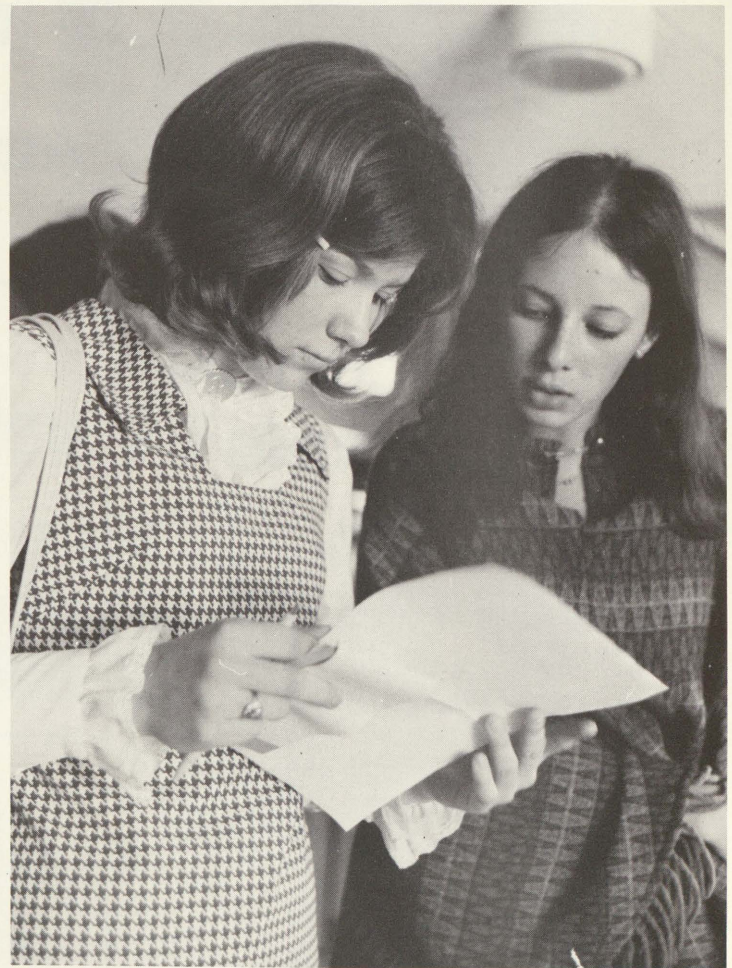

Henry Van Dyke

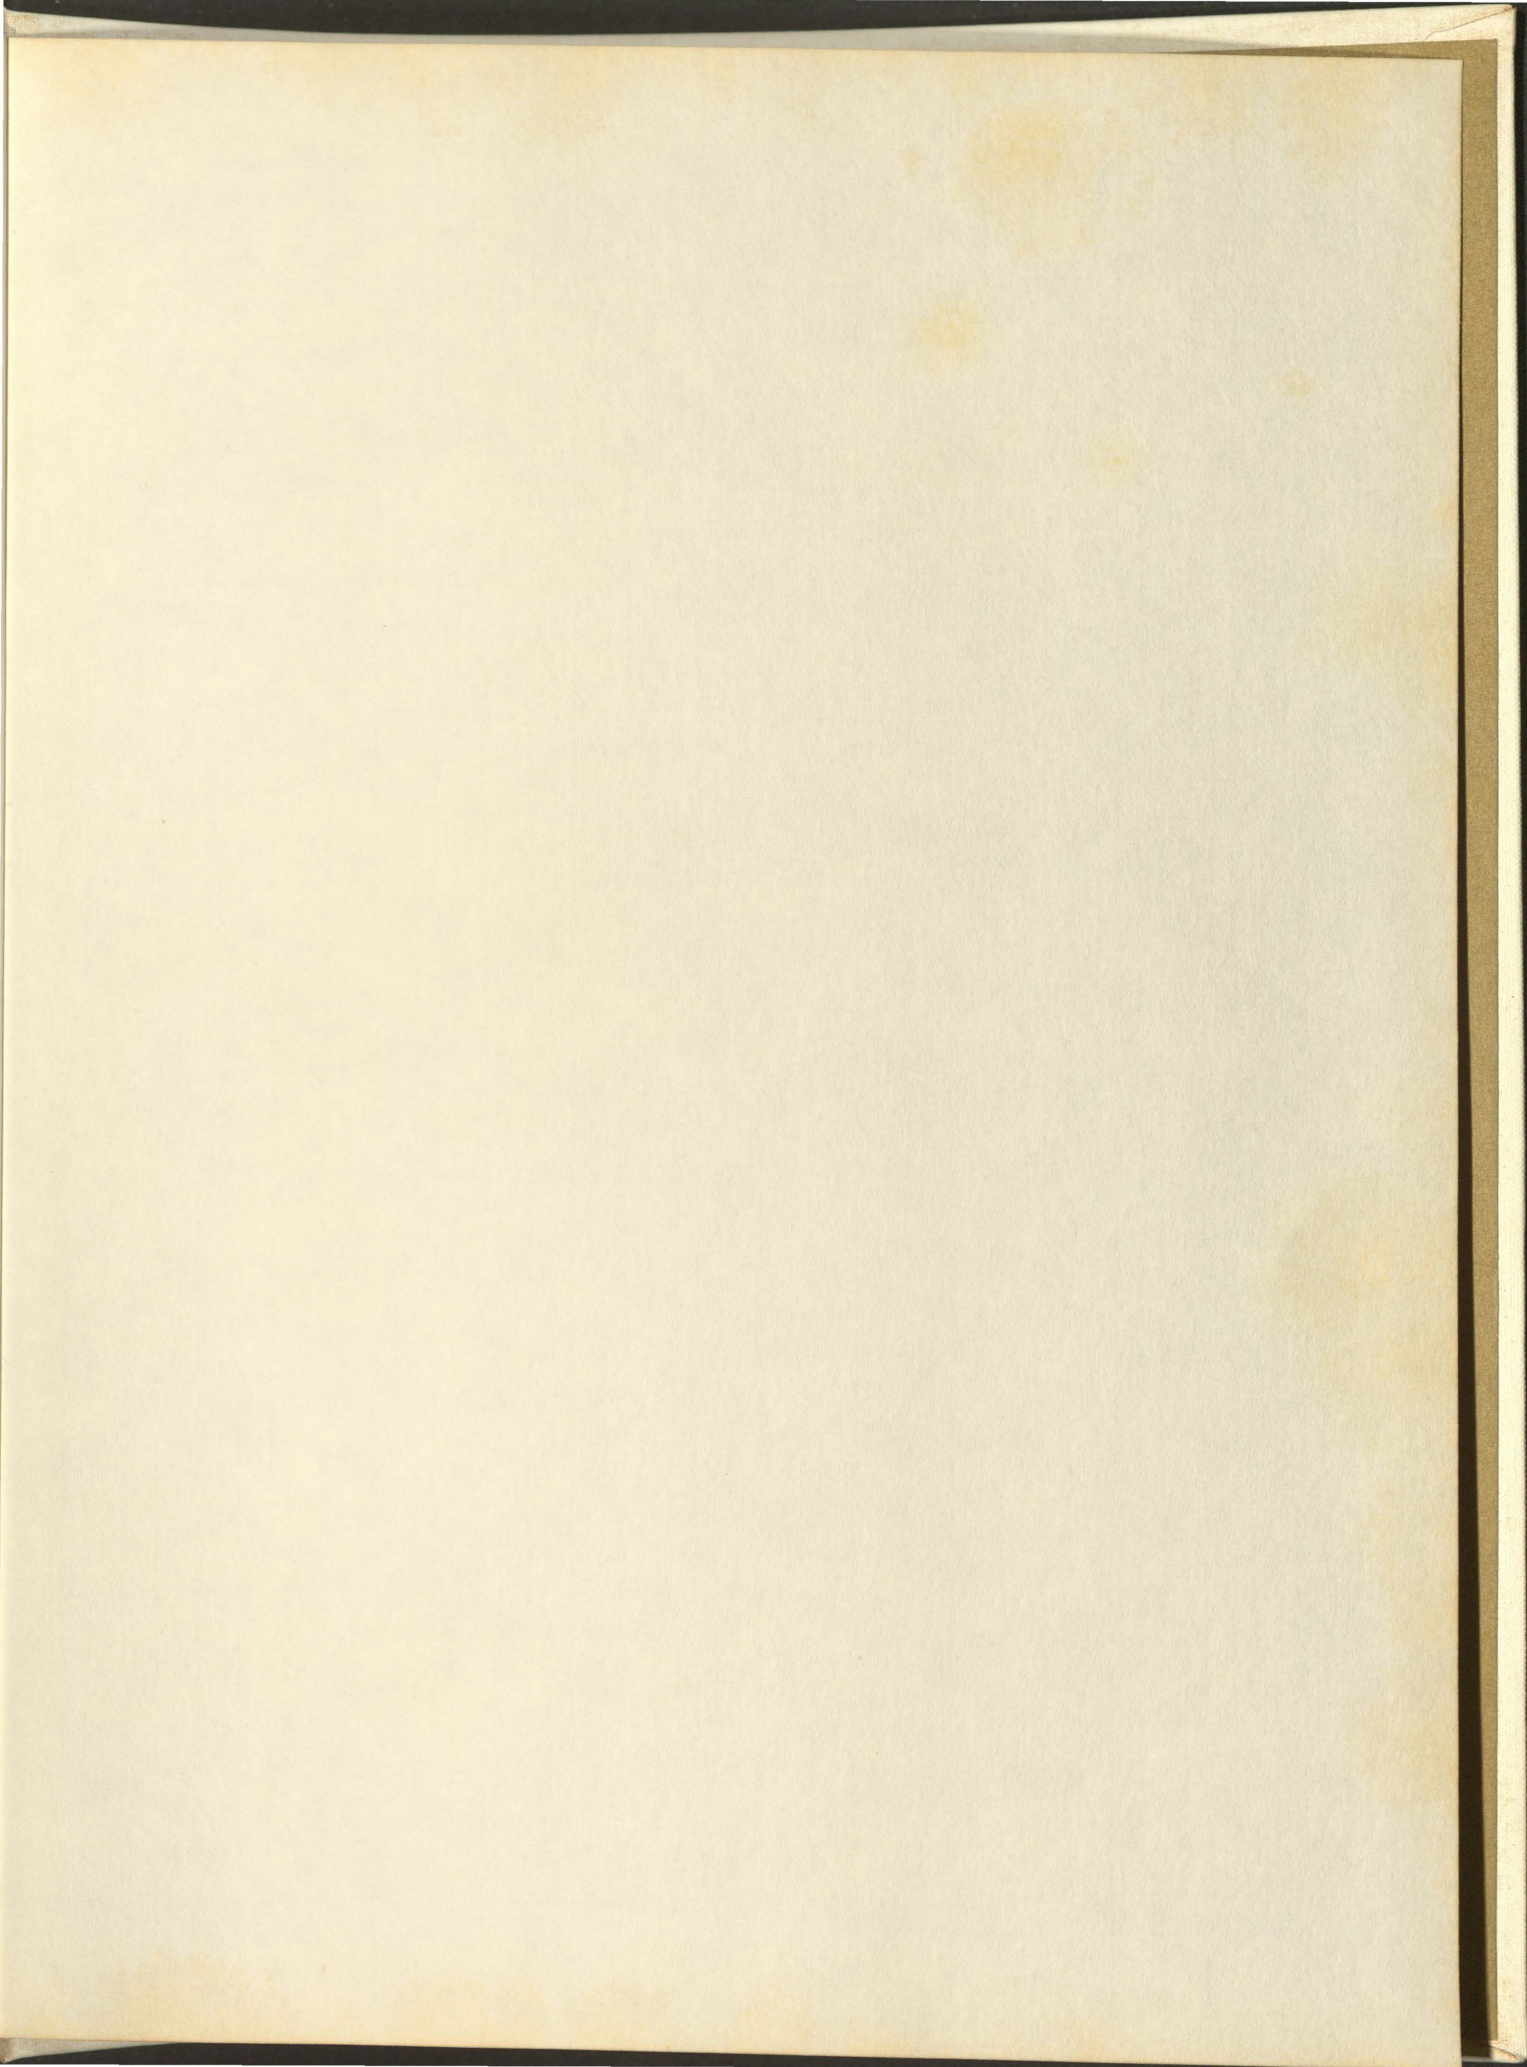

In all the years of your life, but especially those spent in high school, you experience all of these faces of time. Time is too slow before an important game, too swift before the semester finals, too long after you receive the grades from the semester finals, but with the thirteen years you spend in school, it seems like "time is not." This fact always seems to hit you about March of your Senior year. All of a sudden, you realize that everything is for "the last time." For awhile, this gruesome thought makes you sad, but then you forget all about it and have a good time right up 'till graduation. Then - it's over; and you have a new life to start somewhere else.

Best of luck to all the graduating seniors. Good-bye and God bless.
